

What's New At Heirlooms?

My continued thanks with your patience and understanding with my decision not to open the Needlework Gallery for a while, although will open especially for you if an arrangement has been made.

And again I thank you for and appreciate your support. I am always and truly grateful for your friendship and patronage. If you see anything in this newsletter that you would like to purchase, please contact me and I will endeavour to fulfil your request as soon as possible. Sherelyn

JBW 390 - Peace on Earth: A phrase and appropriate words we all wish for due to the times we are living in. Fabrics: Due to cutting fabrics to specific sizes for designs for customers, invariably there are a lot of odd sized pieces of fabric "left over". Some are large, others are small and others very odd shapes and sizes. However, many of these offcuts can be used for items such as scissor fobs, pin keeps, needlebooks, pincushions and biscornus. Also, they are great for "trials" - that is, to ascertain if one can stitch on a fabric count (e.g. 35 or 40) or a different fabric colour.

Needlework Accessories: Now in stock, two new wooden thread winders in the Whimsical Edge range of thread keepers by Kelmscott Designs.

The first is of Henry the VIII's fourth wife - Anne of Cleaves. Anne was of German descent and was therefore considered for political reasons and the marriage negotiations were conducted by Thomas Cromwell. The artist Hans Holbein the Younger was dispatched to Germany and instructed by Henry to paint a portrait of Anne, noting that the artist be as accurate as possible and not to flatter her. The image on this thread keeper is a print of the artist's work which is now in the Victoria & Albert Museum. After 6 months the marriage was declared unconsummated and following the annulment, Henry gave Anne a generous settlement and she was thereafter known as The Kings' Beloved Sister. She lived to see the coronation of Queen Mary I, outliving all of Henry's wives.

The second thread keeper is a "homely" piece as it is in the shape of a house and in one of many needleworkers favourite colours - blue.

Designs: If you have been receiving the Barberry Row blogs, you will know that I have designed and am gradually stitching and publishing all the letters of the alphabet. Each letter has a word on it beginning with that letter but an alphabet is enclosed with the design so that one can change the word or change it to the name of someone special - for example: daughter, granddaughter, sister, niece, friend. Each letter/design is worked with three shades of toning colours, however, a list of alternative colour choices is given should one desire a different colour combination.

The two latest designs now available are pictured to the right.

Code: BARB 1026 $25.00 each (When ordering, please add the letter. e.g. BARB 1026Z)

The words designed with each of these letters are listed below but you can change them
I - Integrity
Z - Zealous

Magazine: Very limited quantities of a favourite publication from Just CrossStitch will be arriving soon. Be quick to order to avoid disappointment.
