

What's New At Heirlooms?

Gift: To begin this newsletter, the following is not a needlework product, but I thought these lovely bookmarks would be a suitable gift for a needlework friend or a treat for yourself. To me they suit the kind, gentle, quiet, spirit of a needlewoman.

Designs: To follow are the latest designs from Judy Whitman of JBW Designs -

JBW 252 - The Rabbit Alphabet: For needlewoman who love cute little bunnies! Judy says that many of the rabbit motifs in her sampler were found in antique samplers - a German sampler of 1738 and an English sampler of 1859, and she says that the rabbit is a symbol of gentleness and purity. The sampler is worked with an overdyed thread and is embellished with white buttons of different sizes - very tiny and medium sized.

Note: I have already stitched a model of the following new designs:
The Rabbit Alphabet - this is a lovely design, however, I did not use the wine pink as Judy's model, but a pale apricot/pink : Cameo Pink by The Gentle Art.
This model will not be on display in the Gallery until the "What's New" weekend in July.

Monogrammed Mini Tote - I have stitched a model of this design onto the tote bag as featured and the initials I have inserted are MRW - the initials of one of my lovely granddaughters - Madison Rose Whitfield. As soon as I saw the tote bag on display in Judy's exhibit at Nashville, it reminded me of her.
This too, will not be on display at the Gallery until the "What's New" weekend in July.

Hoops: Just received another shipment of the wonderful plastic embroidery hoops - four sizes (4", 5", 6" and 8") and six of each size. Each of the six hoop sizes are a different colour : purple, yellow, baby blue, shocking pink, lime green & orange. I can't promise to supply the colour you request as it may have sold prior to your request, but where possible, will send the colour of your liking. These hoops are marvellous in that they do not need to have their inner ring wrapped, as the inner ring has a little 'lip' that the outer ring fits snugly under once the fabric has been inserted between the outer and inner rings and subsequently tightened. If correctly set up, these hoops do not need to be retightened, but will keep your fabric/needlework piece constantly taut.
