

What's New At Heirlooms?

More lovely purchases obtained earlier in the year at the Trade Show.

Designs: Purchased new and restocked on the following favourites by Rosewood Manor -

ROSE:SILENT - Silent Sampler: In the foreground of this design, stylised flowers spill out of an urn. The background is a sampler styled alphabet. Inspiration for this design came about by the designer, Karen Kluba, seeing a beautiful flower arrangement sitting in front of a sampler. $17.00

ROSE:TIN - Antique Tin Tiles: Nine square-shaped, decorative tiles, and underneath, inside individual square frames, are decorative capital letters of the alphabet. Stitch as a complete design or stitch each element individually. The inspiration for this design came from a tin ceiling that Karen Kluba, the designer, saw whilst on a vacation in Arizona. $27.50

ROSE:INSPIRE - Inspiration: A beautiful design which, once again, can be stitched as a complete design or just elements of it can be stitched individually. In the centre there are several village houses, trees & farm animals, bordered on all sides by colourful flowers spilling out of urns. This piece was inspired by a quilt that the designer had seen - the quilt originally being inspired by a photo of a circa 1800 quilt found in a book. $43.50

ROSE:VINTAGE - Vintage Lace: An alphabet of capital letters is randomly surrounded by motifs of birds, flowers, butterflies and lacy designs, being inspired by Karen's study of antique samplers and antique lace designs. This sampler is particularly stunning as it is stitched on a brick-red fabric. $35.00

ROSE:SOW - As Ye Sow: A rectangular sampler featuring row after row of stylised flowers in urns or vases, a row of alphabets in two different styles and a row of numbers in four different styles. Above all the rows, the words, "As Ye Sow - So Shall Ye Reap", are written. Another row is the verse, "ALL FLOWERS OF TOMORROW ARE IN THE SEEDS OF TODAY". Of this sampler the designer says, "Although some people think of their garden when they read these words, I think of planting seeds that will grow in our children. Plant seed of curiosity that grow into knowledge. Plant seeds of love, faith and charity that grow into seeds of patience and tolerance. There are so many wonderful seeds we can plant in our children's mind that will make the world a better place. Children are our flowers of tomorrow". $20.00
